From the New-York Daily Advertiser.
[The following hit at the fashions, from the Greenock Advertiser, is so applicable to the mania which is present in New-York, that we think it will be read with much interest, particularly by the ladies.]

FASHION.
While o'hers sing of Music's charms,
Of beauty's pow'r, or deeds of arms,
My Muse an inclination feels
To sing of stays and of high heels;
For what can more superbly show
The size and measure of a beau,
Than heels that nobly aid the height,
And stays that keep the body tight?
The heel is an important part,
Especially when raised by art:
And what is dress but a mere jest,
If you neglect the taper waist!
Achilles' heel, dipt in the wave,
Could every wound and danger brave,
But the high-heel, well fortified,
With iron, wood, and Crispin pride,
Can need no dipping in the sea,
To keep the foot from danger free.
The stately oustkin could adorn
The tragic step, in drama's morn;
But the high-heel of modern day
At once can grace and might display.
Who then that feels ambition's fire,
Would not applaud the beau's desire,
To court the graces of the fair,
On heels that raise him up in air?
The stays for beaux are likewise fit,
For they may prove the cause of wit;
And when the case of brains is narrow,
They serve to guard the spinal marrow;
Besides, they keep the fluttering heart
From being slain by cupid's dart—
And, what is pleasing to the sight,
A crooked form they render straight.
In short, they lend a grace and air
To captivate the yielding fair,
And such resistless charms bestow
As well the triumphs of a beau.
But though I had Apollo's lyre,
A siren's voice, a seraph's fire,
I could not all the glories sing
Which whale-bone stays and high-heels bring;
My Muse must then her song give o'er,
And dare such lofty strains no more.

MORAL.
But after all, ye belles beware
Of being caught in folly's snare:
Give not your hearts to fools in barter,
For if ye do, you'll catch a Tartar.

HORSE BEFORE THE CART.
The French, said a young Irish barrister, always put the horse before the cart, and I remember a loyal son of France who never spoke of Bonaparte but as von dem start up.

ROYAL WIT.
A great percentage finding fault with a carpenter whose work shrank, the carpenter expressed his concern, and declared that he would not have such a thing happen for a good deal. "A good deal," replied his majesty; "if I were a carpenter, I would not have had it to happen for a whole timber yard."

The kind of the fruit called Pomegranate, boiled in milk, taken inwardly, was some years ago discovered to be an efficacious remedy in the cure of the Dysentery. As, at this season of the year, this disease is prevalent, particularly among children, and as it often baffles the efforts of the physician, you would perhaps save the lives of some, and contribute to relieve the anxious feelings of fond parents, by making this known. [Petersburgh Republican.]

The Observatory of Lucien Bonaparte, at Rome, is said to be the most complete, in respect to its instruments, of any in the world—among others, is the Telescope with which Herschel made his most important discoveries, and for which Lucien paid 2000 pounds sterling. The doors of his observatory are open to all men of science, and the urbanity of his manners renders it a place of great resort for the most eminent professors in Rome.

Sir Humphrey Davy, to whose speculative and philosophical genius the world at large is so much indebted, in a recent communication to the royal society, stated it as his opinion, that falling stars, as they are usually denominated, were not gaseous meteors, but solid ignited masses, moving with immense velocity through the air—this opinion was long since entertained by the enlightened Faray.

Tree.—At the beautiful and magnificent palace of the Duke of Devonshire, on the banks of a fine piece of water, a tree of copper, representing a man, every leaf of which water is made, by the turning of a cock, so as to fall on a shower.

ESPEARE A GOOD COOK.
When men were talking in a coffee-house of the best method of dressing a beef, one of them observed, that of all given in the words of Macbeth, "Beauteous than the intended death," the best was, when 'tis done, then 'twere better it were never done.

It has been for some years remarked that the manners of the people of the United States are becoming in a degree mortifying to good and delicate minds, lofty and aristocratic. That a people in our condition should be luxurious, is natural, and indeed almost unavoidable, since so long as we retain our liberty unimpaired, no sumptuary laws could be prescribed to set bounds to our vanity, or to limit the external display of our pride; and since nothing can prevent the majority of individuals from becoming comparatively rich, and opulence seldom fails to encourage sensuality, and stimulate to excessive enjoyment. To preach to a wealthy people against an over-indulgence of appetite for the good things of life, would be as fruitless as to preach a restraint upon the animal appetites to the grossest kinds of quadrupeds—but might it not reasonably be hoped that our rich folks, or the fools who, in or order falsely to pass for rich, expose themselves to real poverty, would content themselves with the gratification of those sensual passions in which they can indulge without trespassing on the feelings of their fellows, and fill, fatten, and luxuriate to satiety, without making it a part of their enjoyment (as the greater part of those who are able, systematically do) to mortify those about them with affectation, arrogance and supercilious pride. It is related of a person who by hard industry in some of the lowest walks of life, and by puerousness still harder, had amassed what was called in his country, a pretty penny of money, and had returned to his native town, in Scotland, to play the great man for the rest of his life; that being in the course of events raised to the office of Provost, he was puffed with self consequence, on the strength of his new dignity, to such an excess that he sometimes indulged in that worst of all arrogance, the occasional affectation of humility: he would shew the world, so he would, that he was not so great a person as they imagined; and one day on being approached, bowed in hand, by an old intimate of his poorer days, graciously condescended to say to him, "put on your hat, Donald! nay put on your hat—I am still but a man." This contemptible display of arrogance it is which makes the great distinction in England between the new-made London grub, and the dignified country gentlemen—the saucy Nabob, and the simple unaffected proprietor of old family acres; and this it is which after being exposed to derision and abhorrence, with its innumerable airs, and baboon tricks, in comedies, farces and novels, is taken up by distant apes, and mimicked as if it were really any part of the distinguishing characteristic of people of real rank and fashion.

Man is by nature sociable and friendly to man, and where no opposition of interests exists, rarely harbors any malice or hostile disposition to his fellow creatures; but the detestable spirit of that most detestable of all things, a monied aristocracy, raises a barrier more impassable than malice or envy themselves could erect, between the new made rich and the humble, and seems to have impressed the dollar-holders with an opinion that they are, by the mere virtue of their money, transmuting into another and superior species of beings; or to borrow the idea of the Scotch Provost above named, that they are no longer men. This pestilence of the heart, rages in the District of Columbia, as badly—I had almost said worse than in the City of London—and a man with not a thousandth part of the skill of Lavater may distinguish this sort of fellows, as they walk the streets, by their supercilious, disdainful mien, as if they questioned the right of their humbler fellow citizens to breathe the same atmosphere with them. Sometimes one meets a man so stately in his deportment, that if it were not for an incurable vulgarity in his aspect, he might pass upon strangers for the leader of victorious armies, or the governor of states or nations—and those who know the real character of the man, are only relieved from annihilation, by the sense that his pompous air conceals a mean spirit, and that his solemn, supercilious countenance is but assumed as a veil for his ignorance and insignificance.

Such are vast numbers of those colossal minions of usury and avarice, who strut about our streets as if they would.

"Bestride the narrow world
Like a Colossus; and we petty men
Walk under their huge legs and peep about
To find ourselves"

a loop hole to pass by them, without being crushed against the wall, or jostled into the kennel.

Another assumes, perhaps, a reserved and distant air, lest I should claim him as an acquaintance; for perhaps there is no part of the world—no, not that head-quarters of purse proud vanity, Bath, in old England itself, where the Tepino-phobia or dread of low acquaintance, rages more furiously than among the cash dealers of this country of ours. Another man, with eyes fixed, looks straight forward, and though our skirts touch as we pass, seems unconscious that any one is near him, or at least any one worth his notice. A third affects to be nearsighted, and though we have met perhaps, and even conversed on several occasions, he has not the honor to recollect me or my name. All these are different stratagems of pride and self importance, which though not reducible to the precise rules of quarreling, like "the lie direct," for which we can call a man to account, yet may, and ought to be resented, if the offender were not rescued from resentment by his utter contemptibility and insignificance.

CURIO.
From the Norfolk Herald, July 31.
The French frigates La Cleopatra, Comodore Halgan, and La Duchesse de Berri, Captain Courson de la Ville Helio anchored in Lynhaven Bay on Wednesday evening. The latter got under way yesterday morning and proceeded on to Annapolis. Com. Halgan and a number of his officers came up to town yesterday afternoon—from them we learn that they are last from Martinique, from whence they have had a passage of 12 days; that they have been some time on the West India station, and on their departure hence will proceed direct to France. The object of the Duchesse de Berri's visit to Annapolis is to receive any dispatches the French Minister may wish to forward to his government.

From the New-York Evening Post, July 29.
LAW REPORT.
On Saturday last, Judge Livingston issued warrants against Captain Skinner, Don Manuel H. Aguirre, and Mr. Delano, for "knowingly being concerned in the furnishing, fitting out, or arming, in the port of New-York, two ships called the Curiazo and Horatio, with the intent that they should be employed in the service of some foreign prince or people, to cruise or commit hostilities against the subjects of some other foreign prince or state, with whom the United States are at peace."

These warrants were issued under the third section of the act passed at the last session of congress, "for the punishment of certain crimes against the U. States," and which is in the words following:

"Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall, within the limits of the United States, fit out and arm, or attempt to fit out and arm, or procure to be fitted out and armed, or shall knowingly be concerned in the furnishing, fitting out, or arming, of any ship or vessel, with intent that such ship or vessel shall be employed in the service of any foreign prince or state, or of any colony, district, or people, to cruise or commit hostilities against the subjects, citizens, or property, of any foreign prince or state, or of any colony, district, or people, with whom the United States are at peace, or shall issue or deliver a commission within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States, for any ship or vessel, to the intent that she may be employed as aforesaid, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than ten thousand dollars, and imprisoned not more than three years; and every such ship or vessel, with the tackle, apparel and furniture, together with all materials, arms, ammunition, and stores, which may have been procured for the building and equipment thereof, shall be forfeited; one half to the use of the informer, and the other half to the United States."

The parties were all arrested and taken before Judge Livingston yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Emmet, Mr. Wells, and Mr. James Stoughton, appeared in support of the prosecution, and Mr. J. O. Hoffman, Mr. David B. Ogden, Mr. Burr, and Mr. Palmer, for the defendants.

The counsel for the defendants moved to have their clients discharged altogether, or if held to bail, they insisted that they should, under all the circumstances of the case, be recognized to appear at the next term of the Circuit Court, in a very small sum. This motion was made on three grounds.

1. That as the prosecution had been commenced without any directions on the part of the government, or application by the district attorney; it was irregular in its inception and ought to be immediately discontinued.

2. That Mr. Aguirre, (to whose case alone this ground applied,) was a Minister from the government of Buenos Ayres to that of the United States, and could not, therefore, be proceeded against in this way.

3. That to constitute an offence against the third section of this act, the vessels must not only have been fitted out with intent to be thus employed, but actually armed for that purpose, and many depositions were produced, proving that neither of the vessels were ever had been armed.

After an argument of these points by the respective counsel, Judge Livingston decided, 1st, that no instructions were necessary on the part of the president, or any other officer of government, to justify the issuing of a warrant for the violation of this or any other law—nor had the president any right to interfere with the proceedings which had been commenced in this case, by giving any instructions to him on the subject. Nor was it necessary that the application for a warrant should be made by the district attorney; as any individual might complain of the infraction of a law, and he considered it his duty to award a warrant whenever complaint was made to him on oath of a crime's being committed, whether such warrant were applied for by the district attorney or any other person. 2nd. As to any privilege which Mr. Aguirre's commission conferred on him, the judge was of opinion, that this gentleman, not being accredited by the president, and the independence of Buenos Ayres not being acknowledged by the government of the United States, he was liable to be proceeded against for any offence which he might commit against our laws, in the same way as any other individual. On the 3rd point, the judge thought no offence could be committed against the third section of this act, unless the vessel was armed as well as fitted out with intent to be employed, &c. That it does not appear by any part of the act, that congress intended to prohibit the citizens of the U. S. from building vessels and selling them to either of the belligerents, so long as they were not armed. In the case of a principal, it was clearly necessary by the very terms of the law, to render him criminal, that the vessel should be fitted out and armed. Those, therefore, who were knowingly concerned in the furnishing, fitting out, or arming of such ship or vessel, must also be considered as innocent, until an actual armament took place, or this absurdity would result, that one man might have a vessel built and fitted out for this purpose without being guilty of any offence, while the whole penalty of the law might be incurred by a person who should furnish her with a single suit of sails or a cable. As it respected the evidence of an armament, the depositions on which the warrants had issued, were not only either altogether silent, or quite insufficient to prove the fact—but those on the part of the defendants established, beyond controversy, that neither of the vessels, although no doubt built for warlike purposes, had ever been armed.

Judge Livingston was therefore of opinion, that neither of the parties arrested had committed any offence, and ordered them all to be discharged.

COMMERCIAL.
Boston, July 28.
Extract of a letter from Havre of June 8, received by the Cyrus.

"The numerous arrivals from the U. S. this spring have brought into market a most valuable stock of American commodities, which have generally met with a pretty steady demand. Our stock of American cotton wool which somewhat exceeded 20,000 bales, is now gradually lessening and may be computed at about 6000 Upland, 1700 Orleans, and 850 Sea Islands."

We are of opinion that our present quotations will maintain this year, especially for prime sorts which are scarce, and will always command advanced prices.

Bengals hang heavy on hand, and afford but little or no encouragement. Our stock has accumulated by late importations from India and the U. S. to about 10,000 bales.

Brazils have been somewhat neglected of late.

Our market for Am. rice and flour opens this year rather unfavorably for importers, on account of the generally fine aspect of growing crops in France and abroad. Carolina rice sold latterly at 38 a 38½ duty free. We have now hardly 1500 casks in hand, which we presume will maintain—East India and Brazils nominal.

Some rye flour sold as low as 20f per bbl and superfine will not now command 55, duty free. We may have about 3500 bbls in the market.

Pot and pearl ashes, quercitron bark, and bees wax are of a limited consumption, but will however meet with a ready sale at quoted prices, in small lots well selected.

We are at this moment but slightly provided with these articles.

Fish, and sperm oil, pitch, tar, rosin, and staves, colonial and East India produce, command ready sale at quoted prices, especially coffees, which, as will be observed, rules high, continues scarce, and is much wanted. The late actual importations are by no means adequate to our wants—Cocoa but little demand.

We entertain a favorable opinion of tobacco—Virginias, 1816, and Kentucky 17, prime qualities, have a decided preference, especially the latter, which is well adapted to our wants. Our actual stock does not exceed 1500 hds. in Virginia, Kentucky, Carolina, and Georgia descriptions.

Sugars are not in active demand, but superior Havana, especially yellows, would obtain higher prices—Brazils, Muscovados, Bengals and Javas, are also very saleable here—a Java cargo of 2045 canisters, sold lately at 65, and Mauritius at 55 and 67½. We also recommend fine Bengal and Mexico indigos, fine teas, spices, Buenos Ayres hides, (35 a 32 lbs) gums and dyewoods, as likely to offer a good result here. The former article is scarce and wanted—a lot of 80 chests fine Bengals, has been taken up on landing from a Boston trader, at 12f. the lb. in bond.

From the National Intelligencer.
VAST CAVE OF INDIANA.

The Kentucky Commentator contains a letter from a Mr. Adams, giving an account of a cave which he had explored in Indiana. The editor of the Commentator, in his introduction to the letter, says, this cave "has never yet been fully explored, though several individuals whose testimony is to be relied on, have penetrated from 6 to 9 miles into this subterranean region."

Mr. Adams states that the cave is situated in the north west quarter of section 27, in township No. 3, of the second eastern range, in the district of lands offered for sale at Jeffersonville. It was first discovered about 11 years ago, at which time the bottom of the cave was covered with salts from 6 to 9 inches deep; the sides were also coated in the same manner, and had the appearance of snow.

The hill in which the cave is situated, is 400 feet high, the top principally covered with oak and chestnut. The entrance is about half way from the base to the summit, and the surface of the cave preserves about that elevation.

The entrance is by an aperture of 12 or 15 feet wide, and 3 or 4 feet in height; with an easy descent, you enter a room which continues about a quarter of a mile, varying in height from 8 to 30 feet, and in breadth from 10 to 20, the roof arched in some places, resembling an inside view of the roof of a house. At the extremity of this room the cave forks, the right soon terminates, the left rises by a flight of rocky stairs, nearly ten feet high, into another story, and has a S. E. direction. In this room the roof has a regular arch from 5 to 8 feet high, and from 7 to 12 feet wide, which continues to what is called the creeping place, where it becomes necessary to crawl 10 or 12 feet to get into the next room, from which, to the distance of one mile and a quarter, there are many large and small rooms, variously situated. At the end of this journey, a stately white pillar presents itself, which is about 15 feet in diameter, and 25 to 30 in height; regularly reeded from top to bottom. In the vicinity are several other smaller pillars of the same description. Mr. Adams was not certain what were the constituents of their columns, but lime appeared to be the base. Major Warren states that they are the Satin spar.

The cave abounds in sulphate of magnesia or epsom salts, which is found in great variety of forms, and different stages of formations, sometimes in lumps from 1 to 10 pounds, from the surface to three feet below it—the walls are covered with the same article. Mr. Adams removed from a spot in the cave every vestige of salt, and in 4 or 5 weeks the place was covered with small needle shaped crystals, resembling frost.

The quantity of the salts is very superior—the worst earth yielding four pounds to the bushel, and the best from 20 to 25 pounds.

The cave also contains great quantities of nitrate of lime or salt petre article—nitrate of alumina, or nitrate of argil, each yielding an equal quantity of salt petre. The sulphate of lime is seen variously formed pouders, crystallized, soft, or light and spongy—there are also vestiges of the sulphate of iron, and small specimens of the carbonate and nitrate of magnesia. The rocks in the cave are principally of carbonate of lime or common limestone.

Mr. Adams closes his letter by stating that near the forks of the cave are two specimens of painting, probably of Indian origin. One appears to be a Savage, with something like a bow in his hand, and furnishes the hint that it was done when the instrument of death was in use. The other is so much defaced that it is impossible to say what it was intended to represent. The re-perusal of our European papers assures us, that the march of Reason, Improvement, and Public Opinion, continued firm and unimpeded:—that no nation wishes for revolution; and no King for war.—On the contrary, that Monarchs appear as desirous to ameliorate the political, moral, and domestic condition of their people, as those people are to enjoy liberty. We may be deceived, but we think the time has come when "Kings act as if they were men, and men as brethren" [Boston paper]

A long Lease for Sale.
THE subscriber will sell the lease which has 18 years to run, of a small Farm he at present occupies, lying on the turnpike road leading from Alexandria to Washington city, about half way between the two places, and adjoining the lands of Mr. George Wise and Alexander Hunter. The improvements are a snug small Dwelling House and kitchen, good stables, a spring house and slaughter house, and all the useful tools therein for killing, together with a house with a large kettle for rendering neat's feet oil, which is a good business if properly attended to, and may be made much more so by adding the glue-making, which may be easily done—there is also a good garden and a number of beehives. I will likewise sell a likely young Horse, that has been well broke to the saddle or any kind of harness, a light cart and harness, a first rate milch cow, the farming utensils, and household and kitchen furniture of every description, some of which are very good. The whole will be sold for cash, or on a short credit. The lease will be sold with or without the other articles, and immediate possession given. If not sold prior to the 1st day of September next, the above described articles will on that day at 3 P M be offered at public sale on the premises—and if the lease is not sold, the farm will then be rented for one or more years. It is thought unnecessary to give a further description of this valuable property, as it is presumed any person inclined to purchase or rent will view the property prior to that day, and it will be found very advantageous, as there are a number of advantages to which will be sold low and well suited to it. An early application is recommended and the whole will be sold a bargain.

James B. Dunnington, Robert Dunnington, Francis Taylor and Elizabeth B. his wife, James Bloxham and Catherine his wife, William Simmons and Esther his wife, heirs of William Dunnington. THE Complainant alleged in his bill that the Respondents have in possession the real estate of their deceased father Wm. Dunnington are non-residents.—It is thereupon, at motion of the Complainant, ordered that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted in the Alexandria Gazette for the space of three months, to the intent that the absent defendants may have notice of this application, and of the subject and object of the bill, and may be warned to appear in this court in person or by a solicitor, to shew cause, if any there be, wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed. ## Charles County Court, March Term, 1818.

ON application to Charles county court by petition in writing of John Smith, of Charles county, for the benefit of the act of assembly for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, passed at November session 1805, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms mentioned therein, a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors on oath, so far as he can ascertain them, being annexed to his petition, and the court being satisfied by competent testimony that the said Jno. Smith has resided two years immediately preceding the time of his application, in the state of Maryland, and being also satisfied that the said John Smith is in actual confinement for debt, and the said John Smith having entered into bond with sufficient security for his personal appearance in Charles county court, to answer such allegations as his creditors may make against him—It is therefore ordered and adjudged that the said John Smith be discharged from imprisonment; and that by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some one of the newspapers edited in the District of Columbia, once a week for two months successively before the third Monday of August next, he give notice to his creditors to appear before the said Court, at Charlestown, in said county, on the said third Monday of August next, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit, and to shew cause why the said John Smith should not have the benefit of the several insolvent laws as prayed. Given under my hand this 20th day of June 1818. Test, JOHN BARNES, Ck. June 27 Th2m

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO. THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject, which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo. THOMAS COOPER, m. p. CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.
II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.
III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18. JAMES KENNEDY & SON.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it can not injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or gripping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mild est purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Tape or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetites, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of

BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

80 Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber's farm, near Piscataway, Md on or about the 1st day of March, 1818, a dark mulatto man named Nick, five feet ten or eleven inches high, slender made, a little deaf, speaks a little through his nose, has been in the habit of wearing rings in his ears, but may have taken them out to avoid discovery. Said negro Nick has a wife on Mr. Thomas A. Diggs's land, near Fort Washington, and is probably harbored in that neighborhood. I will give the above reward of Thirty Dollars, if taken out of the State of Maryland, and Twenty if taken in the State, more than ten miles from home—if within ten miles of home, Ten Dollars. JNO.
